

Communication and advocacy intern – (paid internship)

EU DisinfoLab is the vibrant home for activists and experts to effectively tackle sophisticated disinformation campaigns targeting the EU, its member states, core institutions and core values.

To these ends EU DisinfoLab:

- develops and maintains the main European platform on disinformation;
- monitors disinformation activities across the major platforms (digital and traditional), identifies trends and threats;
- regularly makes policy recommendations at the EU level and to member states;
- organises seminars, forums, meetings and other events to assemble activists, researchers and experts to share experiences and tools.

EU DisinfoLab is looking for a communication and advocacy intern who can contribute to the work of a growing NGO.

After training within our team, you will:

- take an active part in the organisation of an event in autumn 2019 in Brussels;
- contribute building the DisinfoLab community by drafting a weekly newsletter and help with the organisation of webinars;
- assist the team with fundraising;
- assist the team with project management;
- take part in other activities defined by the team.

Your profile:

- you have an affinity for digital issues, with a societal and political focus;
- you are a curious person, with a can-do attitude;
- you like bringing people together;
- experience in event organisation is an asset;
- fundraising experience is an asset;
- excellent level in English. Additional European languages an asset.

Our offer:

- a small team working in an excellent atmosphere;
- tailor-made training in a highly innovative field;
- constant learning experience;
- duration and starting date to be defined.

Starting date 01/07/2019 for 6 months.

Our office is located Chaussée de Charleroi 79, 1060 Brussels.

Office hours are Monday to Friday, 9.30am-6pm.

We look forward to receiving your application (CV and cover letter) by 06/05.
